Why is everything from the country just better?

Do you remember the laid-back lifestyle you had in mind where you knew your neighbours and people smiles and waved as you drove past?

Have you looked around and seen the landscape become slowly consumed by a concrete jungle and wondered when that happened?

Have you noticed conversations have shifted to become more about leaving than how good life is?

Or maybe youre just sick of urban restrictions and the ever increasing density of people

Or, perhaps, you just need a change where you can have some animals, grow your own food, harvest your own water and spend some of life outdoors rather than cleaning up areas you almost never really use?
